Welcome to the 2016 Festival

What a year for Stratford-upon-Avon!

The 400th anniversary of the town's most famous son and we're celebrating with a refreshing look at his work which will take us from the deserts of Africa to the hip hop of Brooklyn. In the words of his contemporary, Ben Jonson, Shakespeare was not of an age but 'for all time', and that's the theme for this year's Festival – it's all about legacies, memories and great classics – from Charlotte Brontë to Agatha Christie, Gruffalos to Peter Rabbit. We're also talking about food, shops and psychology, not to mention political lustings (sic), the secrets behind great careers, and ground-breaking debut writing and poking a bit of fun at the great Jane Austen. Join us for quizzes, tips on solving crosswords or inspiring masterclasses for writers of all abilities and genres.

Our thanks to our media partner The Week, to Baillie Gifford and to Stratford Town Trust for supporting our monthly book group, and to all the sponsors and supporters who enable the Festival to grow and be a credit to such a famous literary town.

WE LOVE GREAT WORK THAT STANDS THE TEST OF TIME.

Baillie Gifford is delighted to continue to sponsor some of the most renowned literary festivals throughout the UK. We believe that, much like a classic piece of literature, a great investment philosophy will stand the test of time.

Baillie Gifford is one of the UK's largest independent investment trust managers. In our daily work in investments we do our very best to emulate the imagination, insight and intelligence that successful writers bring to the creative process.

In our own way we're publishers too. Our free, award-winning Trust magazine provides you with an engaging and insightful overview of the investment world, along with details of our literary festival activity throughout the UK.

To find out more or to take out a free subscription for Trust magazine, please call us on 0800 280 2820 or visit us at www.bailliegifford.com/sponsorship

Our annual bun fight to test your general knowledge against the questions set by the quiz king, Martin Kinoulty. Bring a team (max 6 per table) and see if you can win a selection of fantastic prizes. This year's quiz is in aid of the Festival, which is now a charity, to help us build on our projects to bring together young people and older members of the community, including our link with schools in Nigeria, through a love of books and reading.

Sonnet Marathon

Henley Street, Stratford
From 10.30am Free

The Sonnet Man, AKA Devon Glover, Brooklyn-born hip hop artist, will attempt the never-before-attempted and perform all of the 154 sonnets by Shakespeare, in a hip hop style, only stopping for comfort breaks. As the town celebrates Shakespeare's 400th anniversary, this will be the event not to miss!

The Life of Beatrix Potter
Martin Jarvis and Rosalind Ayres

Stratford ArtsHouse
3.30pm £12

"Once upon a time, there were four little Rabbits..." Martin Jarvis and his wife Rosalind Ayres join composer Richard Sisson (one half of Kit and The Widow) in a sparkling celebration of the life of one of the world's most loved writers on her 150th anniversary, performing some of her magical stories. Richard composed the music for the stage plays of Alan Bennett's The Lady in the Van and The History Boys, as well as numerous others.

Ted Hughes
Jonathan Bate

Stratford ArtsHouse
4.30pm £8

Eminent Shakespeare scholar, broadcaster, and Provost of Worcester College Oxford, Sir Jonathan Bate returns to Stratford to talk about his masterful and controversial biography of Ted Hughes – the finest yet on Hughes' turbulent life and one he says he was 'born to write'. Shortlisted for the Samuel Johnson Prize, the book offers an extraordinary insight into the poetic imagination of one of our greatest and most complicated poets.

Incomplete Shakespeare
John Crace and John Sutherland

Stratford ArtsHouse
5.30pm £8

Lady Macbeth: 'Give me the daggers and I'll pin the blame/On Duncan's grooms who both are also slain./A little water clears us of this deed/Though a large scotch might also do the trick.' With a new abbreviated text by Guardian parliamentary sketch-writer, John Crace, and footnotes from Professor John Sutherland, join the two Johnnies for a funny and clever knock-about. Ideal for those who know their Shakespeare well and those just desperate to pass their English exams.

Paul Gambaccini
A Year under Operation
Yewtree

Stratford ArtsHouse
6.15pm £10

One of the most familiar voices on radio, Paul is the only broadcaster to have had his own series on Radios 1, 2, 3 and 4, as well as shows on Classic FM and Capital. He's appeared on almost all TV channels and, a former contributing editor of Rolling Stone, he was a founding co-author of The Guinness Book of British Hit Singles. He'll be discussing his career and giving an account of his ordeal under Operation Yewtree, a rallying call to arms to all those who care about the quest for justice.

Queens of Crime Christie v Highsmith

Stratford ArtsHouse
3.45pm £8

Why do women make such good crime writers? To mark 40 years since the death of Agatha Christie, arguably the cleverest of them all, the acclaimed author Jill Dawson joins the award-winning crime writer Sophie Hannah (the only writer the Agatha Christie Estate has permitted to write a new Poirot novel), to discuss Sophie's new book, The Narrow Bed, and the subject of Jill's latest novel, The Crime Writer based on the life of Patricia Highsmith. Daggers will be drawn as we decide who's the queen of all crime writers.

Alice Roberts The Celts

Stratford ArtsHouse
5pm £10

Clinical anatomist and Professor of Public Engagement in Science at the University of Birmingham, Alice is the engaging presenter of several landmark series including Coast, The Incredible Human Journey, and Ice Age Giants. She writes a regular science column and her latest book was shortlisted for the Wellcome Prize. She'll be discussing her latest series, The Celts, with new and controversial ideas about the tribes who are part of our national DNA, yet remain one of the most mysterious.

© Science Uncovered

Dean Burnett The Idiot Brain

Stratford ArtsHouse
5.15pm £8

(Or what your brain is really up to.) Why do you lose arguments with people who know much less than you? Why can you recognise that woman but can't remember her name? Here's why: the idiot brain. For something supposedly so brilliant and evolutionarily advanced, the human brain is pretty messy, fallible and disorganised. Neuroscientist Dean Burnett tours our mysterious and mischievous grey (and white) matter, explaining the human brain's imperfections in all their glory and how these influence everything we say, do and experience.

Anthony Seldon and Peter Snowdon Cameron at 10

Stratford ArtsHouse
8pm £8

Five years in the making, Cameron at 10 is the gripping inside story of the Cameron premiership, based on over 300 in-depth interviews with senior figures in 10 Downing Street, including the Prime Minister himself. Anthony Seldon, leading headmaster, is the author of multiple volumes on the premiership from Edward Heath to Gordon Brown, and is considered one of Britain's pre-eminent political biographers and contemporary historians. Peter Snowdon is a journalist and historian, and edits BBC Radio 4's flagship Today Programme.

Masterclass - The Art and Carpentry of Fiction Kathryn Heyman

Stratford ArtsHouse
10am-1pm
£50 inc refreshments

The making of fiction requires the mysterious vision of art and the practical carpentry of craft. The acclaimed Orange Prize nominated novelist, Kathryn Heyman, will lead you through the crucial elements for structuring great fiction. You'll leave knowing the right questions to ask of your novel, and with some tools to help you get through the moments of doubt and uncertainty. 'The structure of [my book] owes a great deal to Kathryn's teaching course - as she spoke, the heavens opened, angels sang.' Mark Haddon, The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night Time.

Hunter Davies The Co-op's Got Bananas

Stratford ArtsHouse
3.30pm £8

The veteran columnist and writer talks about his poignant and very personal memoir of growing up in Cumbria during the Second World War and into the 1950s. Hunter Davies OBE has been editor of the Sunday Times magazine, and a prolific and amusing writer for over 50 years, writing about a myriad of topics from his beloved Lake District to football and The Beatles, for both adults and children.

New Voices Brushstrokes in Time

Stratford ArtsHouse
4pm Free

This memoir of fictional Chinese artist, Little Winter, is written for her American daughter. It takes the story of Communist China beyond the death of Mao and, for the first time in fiction, shows the birth of the radical art movement, The Stars, in 1979. Her haunting love story connects us to this time of hope for freedom of expression in China, and to a man frustrated by 'being kept in small shoes'. Sylvia Vetta is a writer from Oxford and her long-running profile series, Oxford Castaways, has been compiled into two books.

Andrew Hurley The Loney

Stratford ArtsHouse
5.15pm £8

Andrew's debut novel, The Loney, a Gothic horror story set in a wild part of the Lancashire coast, won the 2016 Costa First Novel Award. Published to huge acclaim, it was described by one Costa judge as being as 'close to the perfect first novel as you can get'. A haunting tale it may be, but its route to publication is an inspirational story for anyone looking to get their novel published. Come and hear its story.

Alzheimer's and The Importance of Storytelling

Stratford ArtsHouse
5.30pm £8

Sylvia Vetta has written the life stories of over 100 inspirational people, after which she sends them to her mythical island of Oxtopia. Oxford Castaways 2 was published on behalf of Vale House Hospice. Its founding chairwoman, Gillian Cox, will join Sylvia and explain the importance of story-telling for people who have lost their identity through Alzheimer's, and how life stories for those with terminal mental illness can be comforting for them and those that love them. They'll offer ways to bring stories into the lives of anyone affected by dementia.

Rod Norland and Najiba Feroz - Women in The Middle East

Stratford ArtsHouse
6.00pm £10

The Pulitzer Prize-winning, New York Times Kabul Bureau Chief talks with BBC Journalist Najiba Feroz about his book The Lovers, which tells the true story of a young Afghan, couple from different Muslim sects, who were willing to risk their lives to be together. This powerful and profoundly moving modern day Romeo and Juliet story puts a human face to the on-going debate about women's rights and women's place in Afghanistan where they are still subjected to some of the worst human rights violations in the world.

Oliver James Not in Your Genes

Stratford ArtsHouse
7pm £8

Modern society and modern science both uphold a prevailing myth that who we are is mainly due to our genetic code. The popular psychologist, outspoken commentator, and best-selling author of Affluenza, uncovers the truth about genetics and says our genes actually play very little part in shaping who we are. Oliver James' claim that almost all psychological differences between us and illnesses that beset us are the result of our environment and upbringing will change the way you think forever.

Simon Sebag Montefiore The Romanovs

Stratford ArtsHouse
8.30pm £10

The charismatic historian, presenter and best-selling biographer of Stalin (History Book of The Year and Costa Book Award) returns to Russia and the Romanovs - the glittering, ruthless and doomed dynasty of tsars and emperors who dominated Russia's history and at one time ruled a sixth of the world's surface. He tells the enthralling story of how they created the world's greatest empire and then lost it all.

Asquith's Women Stefan Buczacki and Anne de Courcy

Stratford ArtsHouse
6pm £8

Professor Stefan Buczacki and the journalist and biographer, Anne de Courcy, unravel the extraordinary world of Edwardian Prime Minister, HH Asquith, and his astonishingly tangled love life – at the centre of which was devotion to his wife, Margot Tennant, and his obsession with the aristocratic socialite Venetia Stanley – an obsession during which he wrote her over 560 letters (sometimes even during Cabinet meetings) and which Churchill viewed as 'England's greatest security risk'.

Anthony Seldon Beyond Happiness

Stratford ArtsHouse
6.15pm £8

Sub-titled 'The trap of happiness and how to find deeper meaning and joy', the educationalist and Britain's best-known headmaster is co-founder of Action for Happiness and introduced happiness and well-being lessons to raise awareness of the discovery of happiness, and the reduction of depression which is so prevalent in society. He'll be distinguishing between pleasure, happiness and joy, and offering an original approach on how to make our lives far more meaningful and rewarding.

Masterclass - Anatomy of A Successful Sales Letter Andy Maslen

Stratford ArtsHouse

Masterclass - Writing a Family History Meg Sanders

Stratford ArtsHouse
2pm - 4.15pm
£35 inc refreshments

Documenting a lifetime's adventures or a family history is both absorbing for you, and a precious memoir for a future generation. But where and how do you start? You don't have to be an accomplished writer to create something worth treasuring, and best-selling writer, Meg Sanders, will not only show you how to source and verify information and facts, but also help you to bring it together and present it in a way that will interest and engage your family and friends. Bring a tablet with internet capability if you have one, but not essential.

New Voices Romantic Comedy

Stratford ArtsHouse
3pm Free

Kate vs The Dirtboffins

Kate Smith, a woman with the world at her Jimmy Choo clad feet, wants to buy out her business partner and finally be her own boss, but will her horticultural research empire blossom or wither? Candice Nolan and Phil Parker, husband and wife writing team, debut with a romantic comedy and talk about the challenges of writing together.

AL Kennedy Serious Sweet

Stratford ArtsHouse
3.30pm £10

The Costa Award Winning author, and creative writing lecturer at Warwick University, talks about her latest novel, Serious Sweet. Set in 2014, this is a novel of our times. Poignant, deeply funny, and beautifully written, it is about two decent, damaged people trying to make moral choices in an immoral world. As they navigate the sweet and serious heart of London – passing through 24 hours that will change them both for ever – they tell a very unusual, unbearably moving love story.

Canals - The Making of A Nation Liz McIvor

Stratford ArtsHouse
4.30pm £8

Stratford is at the centre of the country's canal network, and BBC presenter and curator of Social History, Liz McIvor, takes a journey into the heart of industrial Britain, and discovers the people who made them (including the cheap labour and the greedy investors), and how they shaped our nation's future. She'll be joined by the former Canal & River Trust and Poetry Society Canal Poet, Jo Bell, who'll be reading some of her poems inspired by these extraordinary waterways.

Festival Book Group The Trouble with Goats and Sheep

Stratford ArtsHouse
5pm £8
Free copy for first 10 to book, or novel available at 30% discount.

England 1976. Mrs Creasy is missing and The Avenue is alive with whispers. As the summer shimmers endlessly on, ten-year-olds Grace and Tilly decide to take matters into their own hands. And as the cul-de-sac starts giving up its secrets, the amateur detectives will find much more than they imagined. Read the book then meet Joanna Cannon, the author of this debut novel described as 'phenomenal'.

Graham Harvey Grass Fed Nation

Stratford ArtsHouse
5.15pm £8

A must for Archers fans – Graham is known to millions as the agricultural story editor of the long-running radio soap and has written over 600 episodes. He is an expert on farming and farming practice, and has written on the subject for all the leading papers and journals. He'll be talking about Grass Fed Nation – an urgent manifesto and rescue plan for food and the countryside, and explaining why the experts got it wrong about meat and dairy being bad for us.

Janet Ellis The Butcher's Hook

Stratford ArtsHouse
6.15pm £8

The actress, former Blue Peter presenter (and mother of Sophie Ellis Bexter) talks about her astonishing and hugely-anticipated debut novel. The Butcher's Hook is a dark and twisted tale of a young girl in 18th century London which brims with the colour and atmosphere of Georgian London, as seen through the eyes of a strange and memorable young woman. It's a long way from John Noakes and sticky-back plastic. (Our Books with Friends Book Group read for April.)

Prof Steve Jones No Need for Geniuses

Stratford ArtsHouse
6.30pm £8

The highly-respected geneticist and writer will be discussing his new book, No Need for Geniuses, which looks at the wealth of talent that was wiped out by the guillotine in the French Revolution. Steve Jones is a broadcaster and Reith lecturer, prize-winning author and winner of the Royal Society Michael Faraday Prize for his contribution to the understanding of science. He is a regular contributor to the Daily Telegraph.

Gordon Corera Technology and Spies

Stratford ArtsHouse
8pm £10

The BBC's security correspondent, whose last book covered MI6, talks about his career reporting on events such as the 2015 massacre in Paris and his new book: Intercept – the untold, and until now highly classified, story of the melding of technology and espionage. His compelling narrative, rich with historical details and characters, takes us from the Second World War to the internet age, with astonishing revelations about espionage carried out today.

Charlotte George or Jane? Great Classic Novelists

Stratford ArtsHouse
2pm £8

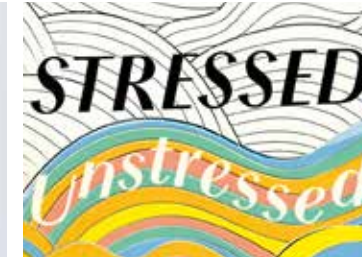

As we celebrate Charlotte Brontë's bicentenary, a panel including three leading biographers, Claire Harman (Charlotte Brontë), Paula Byrne (Jane Austen), and Valerie Dodds (George Eliot) will discuss our three greatest female novelists, and the challenges they faced to write in the period they lived. Then the (elegant) gloves will be off as they thrash out which of these three great writers has left the strongest legacy. Come along and cast your vote.

Mary Portas Queen of Shops

Stratford ArtsHouse
3.15pm £12

Saviour of the high street, consumer champion and scourge of sloppy business practice, Mary Queen of Shops brings her energy and common sense talk to Stratford. She'll be commenting on the future of town centres that are fast becoming a story of coffee and charity shops, talking about the secrets behind a successful business and discussing Shop Girl, her memoir of a career on the cutting edge of retail.

Stressed Unstressed The Impact of Poetry Mental Health

Stratford ArtsHouse
4.30pm £8

Again and again over the centuries, great poets have returned to themes of love, death and memory - remembrance of childhood joy, of happy days and beautiful places, of loved ones we have lost, or feelings of peace and being at one with the natural world. Best-selling biographer Paula Byrne and GP Dr Andrew Schuman explore the impact this poetry can have on mental health issues, and discuss their book, endorsed by celebrities like Stephen Fry, which offers an anthology of poems to help in times of difficulty.

James Holland Burma '44

Stratford ArtsHouse
4.30pm £8

The engaging and highly-acclaimed military historian, tells how a rag-tag bunch of British soldiers defeated Japan's finest infantry and turned the tide in Burma, in one of the most astonishing battles of the Second World War. Holland regularly contributes reviews and articles in national newspapers and magazines and appears on national radio. His many books include Fortress Malta, Italy's Sorrow, The Battle of Britain and his fictional WW2 series featuring Sergeant Jack Tanner. 'A remarkable collation of personal experience and sensible historical judgments.' Max Hastings.

Austentatious

Stratford ArtsHouse
7pm £16

A smash at the Edinburgh Fringe, this entirely improvised comedy play is acted out in the style of the wondrous and witty Jane Austen, based on nothing more than a title from the audience. Be it 'Mansfield Shark', 'Darcy & Hutch' or 'I Know What You Did Last Season', no two shows are ever the same. A seasoned cast, led by one of Stephen Fry's QI Elves, present an eloquent, irreverent, 100% improvised take on the works of Britain's best-loved novelist, performed in period costume with live musical accompaniment.
